Re: Request for Meeting to Discuss Telecommunications Facilities and Needs Assessment on Tribal Land as required by the Federal Communications Commission

Dear Governor Bill Anoatubby:

The Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") recently issued an Order requiring telephone companies to reach out to Tribal governments in their service areas to discuss tribal communication needs including the following: a needs assessment, deployment planning with a focus on tribal community anchor institutions, feasibility and sustainability planning, marketing services to the tribal community, rights of way processes, land use permitting, facilities siting, environmental and cultural preservation review processes, and Compliance with tribal business and licensing requirements.

In addition, the FCC's Office of Native Affairs and Policy ("ONAP") issued a Public Notice on July 19, 2012 providing additional guidance regarding the engagement with out to tribal governments stating:

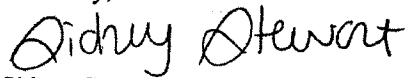

This guidance is intended to "lead to a common understanding between Tribal governments and communications providers receiving USF support, on the deployment and improvement of communications services on Tribal lands. The Tribal engagement obligation is intended to benefit Tribal government leaders, service providers, and consumers living on Tribal lands, ultimately providing greater connectivity to 21st century economic opportunities, education, health care, and public safety. This obligation is related to the very essence of universal service – facilitating and supporting connectivity to and from the most remote areas of our nation inures to the benefit of all. Requiring Tribal engagement is intended to begin and, in some cases, to strengthen, the dialogue between communications providers and Tribal governments. We anticipate that genuine dialogue and common understandings will ultimately lead to improvement of communications services on Tribal lands."

We would like the opportunity to schedule a time to meet with you and other tribal officials to discuss tribal communication needs, marketing opportunities to the tribal community, right of way processes, land use permitting, facilities siting, and environmental and cultural preservation. Please contact me at 501-748-6137 to schedule a meeting time.

I look forward to hearing from you and the opportunity to discuss these important issues.

The Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") recently issued an Order asking telephone companies to demonstrate on an annual basis that they have meaningfully engaged Tribal governments in their supported areas. The FCC contemplates that such discussions will focus on a needs assessment, deployment planning with a focus on tribal anchor institutions, feasibility and sustainability planning, marketing services to the tribal community, rights of way processes, land use permitting, facilities siting, environmental and cultural preservation review processes, and compliance with Tribal business and licensing requirements.

In addition, the FCC's Office of Native Affairs and Policy ("ONAP") issued a Public Notice on July 19, 2012 providing additional guidance regarding the engagement with tribal governments stating:

This guidance is intended to "lead to a common understanding between Tribal governments and communications providers receiving USF support, on the deployment and improvement of communications services on Tribal lands. The Tribal engagement obligation is intended to benefit Tribal government leaders, service providers, and consumers living on Tribal lands, ultimately providing greater connectivity to 21st century economic opportunities, education, health care, and public safety. This obligation is related to the very essence of universal service – facilitating and supporting connectivity to and from the most remote areas of our nation inures to the benefit of all. Requiring Tribal engagement is intended to begin and, in some cases, to strengthen, the dialogue between communications providers and Tribal governments. We anticipate that genuine dialogue and common understandings will ultimately lead to improvement of communications services on Tribal lands."

I look forward to hearing from you and the opportunity to discuss these important issues.

Dear Governor George Blanchard:

We recently contacted you, by letter, on October 22nd, 2012 requesting to meet with you regarding the following information:

The Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") recently issued an Order asking telephone companies to demonstrate on an annual basis that they have meaningfully engaged Tribal governments in their supported areas. The FCC contemplates that such discussions will focus on a needs assessment, deployment planning with a focus on tribal anchor institutions, feasibility and sustainability planning, marketing services to the tribal community, rights of way processes, land use permitting, facilities siting, environmental and cultural preservation review processes, and compliance with Tribal business and licensing requirements.

In addition, the FCC's Office of Native Affairs and Policy ("ONAP") issued a Public Notice on July 19, 2012 providing additional guidance regarding the engagement with tribal governments stating:

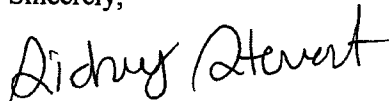

This guidance is intended to "lead to a common understanding between Tribal governments and communications providers receiving USF support, on the deployment and improvement of communications services on Tribal lands. The Tribal engagement obligation is intended to benefit Tribal government leaders, service providers, and consumers living on Tribal lands, ultimately providing greater connectivity to 21st century economic opportunities, education, health care, and public safety.
